FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ambassador Marine, manufacturers of high quality Stainless Steel and Glass Vessel sinks, drains and accessories is pleased to announce that it has successfully negotiated with its exclusive distributor, SHURflo, to take back their distribution rights and once again offer their Marine industry sinks directly to the trade.

SHURflo announced to the trade in September that it intended to discontinue sales of Ambassador sinks in the coming months due to internal decisions regarding their long term strategic plans.

Vice President of Ambassador Marine, Scott Spiegel, explained that after 18 months of SHURflo having exclusive marketing rights to our sinks, Ambassador is very excited to once again market its sinks directly to its customers.

SHURflo and Ambassador expect a very orderly transition over the next few months, continuing to work closely so that there is no interruption of service to the trade as Ambassador resumes direct sales in the fourth quarter of 2010.

Spiegel went on to say, "Ambassador anticipates no immediate change to its high quality products or to its pricing. It has been very exciting to have our phones ringing off the hook in recent weeks with well wishers in the trade who are anxious to resume buying directly from us."
