Ambassador Marine becomes the preferred vendor for IBBI

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE– IBBI (Independent Boat Builders Incorporated) has named Ambassador Marine as their preferred vendor for faucets/sinks and accessories. This new agreement will partner IBBI boat builders with Ambassadors' innovative products and reputation for quality.

According to Scott Spiegel, Vice President of Ambassador Marine, "All of us at Ambassador Marine are thrilled that we have partnered with IBBI to bring our Ambassador faucets and sinks and our unique Danze OEM faucet program to the IBBI member builders. We look forward to working closely with the individual members."

"I think that our new partnership with Ambassador Marine is going to be a good fit for our members. Their product line-up gives our members many choices," Tom Broy, the President of IBBI, said. "They have the enthusiasm and ability to bring our members innovative products that will help differentiate them in the marketplace. We look forward to working together to help our members offer the best boats to the consumer," Broy continued.

Founded 25 years ago, Ambassador began as a producer of high quality faucets and bath accessories for the Home Improvement Industry. Nearly 10 years ago, Ambassador Marine was formed in order to adapt their unique manufacturing expertise for the development of outstanding Marine Grade Faucets, sinks and accessories specifically for our industry.

IBBI was formed in 1989 by a group of independent, recreational boat builders. Today, IBBI is the largest marine purchasing cooperative, with 22 members.
